On the Plaza above the Edmonds Library

This year, select artists from the 2021 Edmonds Art Studio Tour will be hosting a preview sale of their works in the Plaza Room. Tour artists will be available to answer questions about their work as well as the Tour, and facilitating sales of any work visitors may wish to take home. In addition, there will be live demonstrations of their techniques throughout the weekend. Note that proceeds from these sales will benefit both the Festival as well as the artists themselves. This year's tour lands on Saturday and Sunday, September 18 and 19 and we're excited to welcome the public in-person again.

2021 STUDENT POSTER ARTIST TALULA PERRITT

Talula attended 3rd grade at Seaview Elementary last year. Her charming painting, "The Bird Family," was done in watercolors, crayons and sharpie. Artist Statement: The art was inspired by Lucia Stewart's Whimsical Bird Art. I loved being able to create my very own version.

WELCOME

Hello Friends,

We are pleased that events have resulted in our ability to present our beloved Festival this year. Although the Festival is a little different than in the past, you can still expect the same local ambiance and spirit, along with plentiful engaging art in our gallery and on the field.

We've got more than 160 artist booths for you to visit, award-winning art on display at the Frances Anderson Center, and student art as well. Enjoy jazz on the Plaza and bands at the Amphitheater, and don't forget to stop at the food booths to keep yourself refreshed as you enjoy the Festival. Inside the Anderson Center, Robin Weiss, our 2021 poster artist has a display of his art, and Edmonds Studio Tour artists offer demonstrations and art for sale in the Plaza Room above the Library.

Every piece of art you buy will go toward helping the Edmonds Arts Festival Foundation offer scholarships and art education grants, support community arts groups, and fund public art.

Our Edmonds community is a special place, and we're happy to share it with you. Have a wonderful time!
